Justin Ramos

10/28/26

Troubleshooting

Login Issues Troubleshooting

The Issue: The main issue in this case is a pop up saying “We can’t sign in to your account” when trying to sign in to your account.

Troubleshooting: First step you want to do, and this applies to most issues as well, is to restart your computer. Sometimes just restarting the computer can fix the issue. If that doesn’t work then you need to restart the computer in safe mode, then sign in to your account to see if it lets you in. Check to see if all your files and anything else are good. If everything is good restart the computer again normally and it should let you back in into your account again and the issue should be resolved.

The Resolution: Everything should be back to normal, and you should be able to log back in to your account like normally.